HABITAT FOR HUMANITY OF GREATER ORLANDO AREA WELCOMES SCOTT KIMPEL AS NEW BOARD MEMBER

ORLANDO, Fla. – Habitat for Humanity of Greater Orlando Area recently appointed Scott Kimpel, construction manager at PCL Construction Services, to its board of directors.

Kimpel began serving with Habitat Greater Orlando in 2012 as a volunteer on the build site. Since then, he has organized several company-wide volunteer days and has been instrumental in securing more than $155,000 in donations from PCL Construction. Kimpel also currently sits on the Butler's Preserve Development Committee.

"Scott knows Habitat so well, and having him join our board adds significant value to our organization," said Gregory Allen, chief operating officer, Habitat for Humanity of Greater Orlando Area. "His institutional knowledge, coupled with his business acumen, will help us in our continued effort to assist Central Florida families find affordable housing."

Kimpel has been an Orlando resident for nearly 20 years. In his management role with PCL Construction Services, he has worked on notable projects at Orlando International Airport, Universal Studio and Walt Disney World, among others. He earned his bachelor's at Ohio State University and an MBA from the Warrington College of Business at the University of Florida.
